Study Abroad

The UW Study Abroad Office sponsors hundreds of study abroad and internship options to UW students. To help you design a strategy for your program search and navigate your options read Getting Started. To explore various study abroad program models available to you, visit the Find a Program page.

Note: All students intending to study abroad must check the Department of State (DOS) Travel Warnings for any country in which they are interested before finalizing any plans of travel. Heed the Department of State Travel Warnings even if the University of Washington has affiliated programs in certain foreign countries. Please consult with the NELC Undergraduate Advisor, The UW Office of Global Affairs, and the UW Study Abroad Office if you have questions regarding DOS warnings, or program affiliation status.
